Five of these received third grade certificates at the March examination, and the other two have passed satisfactory examinations in those branches they failed in at Corunna, the board inspecting their papers. Their exercises will be held in the Presbyterian church, June 8th or 9th. J. H. LaPearl's Proclamation To The Public. In presenting to my millions of American patrons this, my eighth annual announcement, I take the liberty of defining my position in the amusement world. My Great Allied Shows that will exhibit at Owosso, take it TODAY, and realize the great Tuesday, May 17, are now recognized and declared to be one of America's leading amusement institutions. The resources at my command, and the basis on which my enormous enterprise is organized for the season of 1898, fully justifies this declaration. I have also added a large collection of wild animals. Embracing elephants, camels, lions, Jaugars, hyenas, divets, occilots, tiers. Many rare, unique and heretofore uns eu wild animals and the largest living Hippopotamus on exhibiton in the world.

This mammoth collection of zoological attractions constitute my Golden Menagerie. and is the largest to be seen with any traveling organization exhibiting in American at popular prices.

I feel under no necessity of laying stress on this fact. Every one knows that my show has grown, for in the seven years history of my amusement enterprise each year has seen its unexampled growth and increase in size over the preceding one; and 1 take pride in announcing that the season of 1898 has been no exception to the rule,

In beginning my eighth year in amuse ment history I have no misgiving as to the outcome. I am confident that the present year of unparalled effort and success in amusement presentation will meet with the full measure of appreciation my patrons have always accorded me. And for which I beg to tender my warmest gratitude. Respectfully your amusement servant.

Investigation of the defunct Pingree railway taxation bill shows that if the same had peen enacted, its operations would have been very unfair. Take for instance a railroad whose earnings are large in proportion to its miles of track, amount of rolling stock etc., and its burden of taxation would have been very light, whereas a road whose earn ings are small but whose miles of track and mount of rolling stock are large would in many instances have been frozen entirely out. The Pingree and Merriman bills are quite in contrast. The latter, which is now a law and takes effect June 1st, is graduated on a scale scale something like this: A road whose earnings amount to $2,000 per mile will pay two and one half per cent tax. on earnings of $4,000 per mile three and a quarter per cent tax, on $6,000 per mile four per cent, on $8,000 per mile five per cent, above $8,000 still larger per cent of tax. In other words, every rallway line will, under the Merriman law, pay a tax equitably apporloned upon its earnings. Under the Pin gree bill, a mile of railway was a mile of railway and every car or locomotive a car and a locomotive, regardless of what they earn. Had the Pipgree bill become a law, many railroads would have had to suspend business and cancel all traffic. They would have been bankrupted. Other roads, whose earnings are large, would have had a monopoly, to the detriment and disgust not long hence, of the farmer, who wants his produce shipped out and the goods he needs, shipped in, at living charges such as only competitive railway traffic begets. These disadvantages would apply to all citizens in every line of industry. Mr. Pingree's 'equal and just taxation" was a misnome for the bill, and it is not to be wondered at that thinking senators and representatives could not vote for it Nevertheless, we still believe it would have been better for the legislature to have passed the bill quickly as possible upon assembling, and then promptly adjustned, leaving the responsibility with Gov. Pingree and the constitutionality of same with the courts.-Lapeer Clarion.

Burton Farmers' Club.

On May 5th we met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Snyder in Middlebury township. Busy time and sickness kept some away while others did not care, and the rest of us had a better chance to talk.

One question was "Which is the most important the primary schools or the high schools?" It was decided by most members that both were necessary but the primary came first. F. M. Shepard spoke of the interest taken in the schools, said they were improving, he praised the idea o having flags floating over the schools as teaching loyalty to our country.

"Supposing the war continues what will be the best crops for the farmer to raise?" Some said pork and beans; one old soldier said no pork but plenty of beans and beef, corn and hay for horses, while the soldiers would raise their own chickens.

R C. Shepard recited "Barbara Frietchie" to attentive listeners. The general subject was introduced by Mrs. C. R. Woodin, who Dingler's sickness. told about the properties and uses of water. She said the world as well as ourselves is composed of three-fourths water and onefourth dirt, while vegetation is about fourfifths water. She said it was more convenient in cleaning time to have more water than dirt.

On the subject of Food and Dairy laws C. R. Woodin said the laws were made partly to protect the farmer and partly to make him honest. When the farmer makes an inferior article he helps induce some one to offer an adulteration; when the merchant pays the same for good or bad there is no incentive to make superior article, when the consumer demands something cheap he gets it without regard to quality. He said butterine is all right if made and sold for what it is, but it should not be made to imitate butter and be sold as such. Worked over butter should be marked and sold as renovated butter not as fresh dairy or creamery.

Next meeting at F. M. Shepard, when Mr. Shepard will tell us about the workings of the legislature. C. R. W.

The oldest story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire and gave it to men. For this sin he was vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. North Owosso Farmer's Club.

North Owosso Farmers' club meet at the leasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Miller After dinner the club was called to order by the president E. O. Place. The devotional exercises were conducted by J. H. Moyses. Mr. J. C. Shott and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Parmeley were unanimously elected members of the club. After the usual order of business came the discussion of questions.

"What breed of hens are the most profitable ?" E. O. Place thought the Plymouth Rocks the most profitable and best general purpose fowl. Mrs. Willoughby believes a cross between Plymouth Rock and Light Brahma makes the largest fowl. Mr. Moyses says the winter variety of everlasting layers are the variety but was unable to state where the variety could be found.

"Which is the best, a good house keeps or a good home keeper?" It was decided by the club that it would require both to make either one good.

"Which works harder the farmer or his wife?" Mrs. Spaiding believes the farmer has machinery that will take less of his strength to operate and perform his work than the wife. Mr. Carson thought it depended on how much ambition the farmer or his wife had. Mr. Moyses says there is more improvements for the farmer's wife than there were 30 years ago. Mrs. E O Piace read a very thoughtful selection, "Home, Sweet Home."

"Does the tariff increase the price of farm produce to the producer?" This question was thoroughly discussed by all gentlemen of the club.

Selection entitled "Making farm life enjoyable," Mrs W. F. Spaiding. Recitation, "That Jersey Cow," Mr. J. H. Moyses.

The next meeting will held with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Carson.

Spain's Debt and Ours. From Gunton's Magazine:

Some idea of the magnitude of the burden resting upon the Spanish people can be gained by a comparison with our own situation. Their national debt per capita is about 486 pesetas, or 894 in American money. Mulhall, a few years ago, estimated the wealth of Spain at about $455 per capita; perhaps by this time it could be placed at $460. The per capita debt of the Spanish government, therefore, is more than 20 per cent of the per capita wealth of the entire nation.

The debt of the United States government, which in 1866 amounted to two and three-quarters billions of dollars, stood in January, 1898, at (uet) $1,011,701,338 64, including the greenbacks. This would be a per capita indebtedness of about $14. The per capita wealth of the United States was, in 1890, $1,036; now it is of course greater, but, even on the 1890 basis, the per capita indebtedness of the government to-day amounts only to one and one-half per cent of the per capita wealth of the nation. The per capita interest charge on this debt amounted, in 1886 -97, to about 53 cents; in Spain the annual cost of the public debt is nearly $6 per capita.

The first week in April was exceedingly cold, the average temperature ranging from 1 to 14 degrees below the normal, while in ture conditions prevailed, the mean being about 8 degrees above the normal. There was practically ne rainfall either week and consequently crops made little growth. Weather conditions the latter half of the month were more favorable but not warm enough to ensure best results. Tempera-ture was nearly normal and rain fair in amount and very well distributed.

The average condition of wheat is as follows: Southern counties, 92; central, 96; nothern, 98, and State, 94 per cent, comparison being with vitality and growth of average years. The average for the State is 12 per cent higher than in 1897, 2 higher than in 1896, and 14 higher than in 1895. Less than 1 per cent of the area seeded will be plowed up because winter-killed or otherwise destroyed.

The amount of wheat reported marketed by farmers in April is 1,088,514 bushels, and in the nine months, August-April, 14.015,846 bushels, which is 5,651,517 bushels more than reported marketed in the
